Last Sunday morning in our teen class we started a study looking at Hebrews chapter 11. In it, we read of the great "Hall of fame of Faith". In it, we see heroes of faith that the writer brings to us as examples of faith and how we should live our lives.

We read about people like Enoch, Noah, Abraham, and Issac and about how they were faithful to God. This got me thinking, who would I put in my "Hall of Fame of Faith"? For me, it would be my parents, my grandparents, and senior members of the Church who have had the biggest impact on my spiritual walk. We all have those who have been mentors to us as Christians and have molded us into the people we are today. We all have those who were notable examples of faith to us.

The Hebrew writer was reminding the Jewish Christians that there were people who came long before them that they could learn from and follow their example.

Who is in your "Hall of Fame"? Who do you have in your life that has had a positive influence on your faith?

I remind you that from time to time we need to lean on those who have been there and who have walked this road of faith before us. They can encourage and strengthen us.

We also have a great responsibility to be those "pillars of faith" for the next generation. I appreciate so much all the encouragement you give me and our young people. I know that they appreciate it too. So, always remember you are loved!

Eric

The Book of Proverbs = Simple Rules For Godly Living

A proverb is something that contains a timeless truth. It is very much like the law of gravity in that it is unalterable. The truths contained in the proverbs are just as true today. It is amazing that God's word can be applied in every age, every culture, and in every tongue that they are read.

A proverb is based on real-life experiences. It is divine truth that has been verified by the experience of the author. Proverbs has been called "A Laboratory Manual on Life." It is not merely a theological treatise or a book of wise sayings.

A proverb is morally and ethically sound. It provides guidance in making godly choices in difficult situations. It instructs the believer on how to conduct himself/herself in the world. It offers simple, practical advice to help in daily decision making.

A proverb is a general statement of truth that allows for, but does not condone, exceptions to the rule. The statement "Smoking is harmful to your health" is generally true. However, occasionally a smoker may live to be 90 years old. This is very similar to the proverbs. The proverb "the fear of the Lord prolongs days, but the years of the wicked shall be shortened" (Proverbs 10:27) is also true. However, occasionally the good die young and the wicked live a long life.

A proverb is a statement that will help us to understand life and the world. The great thing about the book of Proverbs is that it contains every element to help us understand, interpret, and apply the others. If we will read them, and rightly divide them, we will have a better outlook on life. We can learn from the experience of Solomon and other wise men. There is no need to go through "trial and error" in order to gain the wisdom in the book of Proverbs.

The Proverbs are the Christian's guide to wisdom. Some people do not like to study the proverbs because they seem like 138 random miscellaneous thoughts. In all actuality the proverbs show careful consideration, arrangement and grouping by the writers in an organized manner. James Burton Coffman says that like the Pentateuch and the Psalms, Proverbs is divided into five parts: (1) The proverbs of Solomon (1-9); (2) more proverbs of Solomon (10-24); (3) the proverbs of Solomon copied by Hezekiah (25-29); (4) the words of Agur (30); and (5) a mother's counsel (31).

Proverbs help a Christian understand the importance of God and His Word. They offer practical advice on our relationship with God. And, they teach us how to fear God, understand His word, and apply the wisdom of God to life. Read them. Live them. Have a great week!

You Are Loved. Ray
