NEWS & UPDATES

We would like to clear up an error in last week's bulletin. We listed Steve Yager as Deacon of Visitation to take care of widows, widowers and shut-ins. It was brought to our attention that visitation is not his role. This week the bulletin has been corrected to say he is the Deacon of Education. We apologize for the confusion.

There is a Lads 2 Leaders meeting with Eric immediately following the AM service. All parents are asked to attend, as well as anyone interested!

Summerdale Youth Group

Growing in Faith, Hope and Love

Starting Sunday September 1st, we will begin a new Sunday school program for our Christian Soldiers group in grades K5 through 6th called Camp David. This will be a fun and exciting program that we hope will not only encourage and help our kids grow but also will get them excited for Bible class. The program will be like a VBS style of learning, with a story room, craft room, game room and a theater room. The kids will be split into two different age brackets, with kindergarten through 2nd grade in one group and 3rd through 6th grade in the other. They will all begin in the theater room in the fellowship hall at 9AM to sing some songs and introduce the lesson. Then one group will transition to the craft or game room while the other hears the story. After 20 minutes, they will switch. This will allow our kids to learn the story in a variety of ways and help them retain the message. Each lesson will last two weeks. It will also help our teachers by giving them less to prepare for. At the end of class, the kids will be escorted back to the auditorium for worship. We believe this will be beneficial for both our kids and our teachers. One goal of this program is to allow our teachers to rotate more often so that they can attend other classes. That is why we will only ask our teachers to teach 1 quarter (13 weeks) at a time.

Another addition to our Bible school program will be what we are calling Sunday Night Soldiers. This program will start Sunday night July 7th and will also be for kids in grades K5 through 6th. After the evening devotional, all students will be dismissed to the fellowship hall where each week we will have various activities for them to participate in. This program is designed to begin to help our kids prepare for Lads to Leaders. We will work on the various events that are offered at both convention and year-round. Our teens will be invited to be part of this program as a mentor to our kids as well as participants for those who will be attending Lads to Leaders this year. The goal of this program is to create an environment where our kids can learn to be leaders in the church and provide an opportunity for our teens and kids to interact creating a mentor/mentee atmosphere. This will be a great opportunity for all our children to be included in learning to become good and effective leaders in the Lord's church.

Our goal in launching these new programs is to continue to help our children grow in their walk with God and teach them the principles of His word. However, as the saying goes "it takes a village". We implore you to consider helping or teaching in our Bible class program. We have some of the most loving, and talented members here at Summerdale and we would love for you to share your talent in the training and admonishing of our children. If you have any questions about either of these programs or about how you can help with them, see myself, Andrea or Steve Yager and we would love to talk to you about them. As always, remember you are loved!

Eric

READING THE BIBLE IN A YEAR:

The Numbers Book - Psalms Concerning the Nations

The fourth book of Psalms is filled with anonymous psalms. These 17 psalms also include one written by Moses (Psalm 90) and two written by David (Psalm 101, 103). These psalms, like those in book three, were composed for public worship. Many of them may have been written by the Levitical priests.

Psalms: Book Four relates to the book of Numbers. The general theme of this section concerns Israel and the Gentiles on earth. Numbers describes the Kingdom of Israel in relation to its neighbors. It seems to emphasize kingdom/nation building. In a similar way, these Psalms reveal that God's kingdom rules over all, but that His people should praise His name among the other nations. It begins with Israel in the wilderness taking account of themselves (Psalms 91, related to Numbers 1-8), continues with instructions for the future (Psalms 91-94, related to Numbers 9-14), and discussion of the anticipated rest (Psalms 95-100, related to Numbers 15-26), and the basis for entering into rest (Psalms 101-106, related to Numbers 27-36).

Most of these psalms direct our eyes to the Lord who rules over all the earth. Several of these psalms begin with simply, "The Lord reigns," or "Praise the Lord!" They remind us that the Lord is above us. They also reveal that God is good, kind, and righteous. The Lord of heaven deserves our worship and praise. Scholars are quick to point out that there are also pre-captivity sentiments expressed in these psalms, but the emphasis on praise toward God for His blessings even in difficult circumstances. This book uses Yahweh exclusively.

The introduction to the section declares confidence in God as Protector of His people (Psalm 90). Several of the psalms describe the steadfastness and faithfulness of God. The doxology praises God for the way He has led Israel until the present day, and declares that He never changes (Psalm 106). We are reminded that He is "from everlasting to everlasting." The book closes with Amen and Hallelujah, rather than a double "Amen" like the previous books.

The psalm of Moses is of a particular interest to me (Psalm 90). This is the oldest of the Psalms and was written around 1400 BC. Moses may actually be the first psalm writer! We have three psalms penned by Moses: (1) Exodus 15:1-15 is a song of triumph following the crossing of the Red Sea. (2) Deuteronomy 32, 33 is a song of exhortation to keep the Law after entering Canaan (3) Psalm 90 is a song of meditation, reflection, and prayer.

We would do well to consider the words of this great psalm. Have a great week!

You Are Loved. Ray
